City to host AIDS conference

ROMITA HANUMAN

THE streets of Durban were transformed into a carnival of colour on Friday 8 April 2016, when a parade to mark 100 days to the 21st International AIDS Conference swept through the City.

The five-day conference will be held at the Inkosi Albert Luthuli International Convention Centre from 18 to 22 July 2016.

Waving flags and chanting messages of support to those affected and infected with the virus, government leaders, civic organisations, AIDS activists, academics and community members, joined hands during the parade from King Dinuzulu Park to Gugu Dlamini Park. Durban will host about 20 000 local and international delegates at the conference to be held under the theme: "Access Equity Rights Now!" where academics, scientists, policy makers, government leaders and community stakeholders will deliberate on ways to curb the prevalence of HIV.

Deputy President Cyril Ramaphosa, who is also the Chairperson of the South African National AIDS Council SAID South Africa has a great story to tell.

"Today we offer anti-retroviral treatment to over 3 million people who are living with AIDS and we are pleased that mother to child transmission of the disease has been drastically reduce.

We want to have a world where HIV is part of our history," he said in pre-recorded message screened at Gugu Dlamini Park.

AIDS 2016 is a conference of hope, said KZN Premier Senzo Mchunu. "We are hoping for increased awareness, the mobilisation of people and we hope to erase HIV by 2030."

EThekweni Municipality Mayor and Chairperson of the EThekweni Aids Council, James Nxumalo, said HIV and AIDS is the biggest threat to humanity.

"We are humbled that an important subject such as this will be deliberated on our shores once more at both a scientific and social level."

The 13th International AIDS Conference was held in Durban in 2000. This was the first time the conference was held on African soil.

Professor Olive Shisana, Local Co-Chair of the AIDS 2016 Conference said: "The conference is a powerful platform to find solutions to overcome this scourge."

Messages of support were provided by MEC for Co-operative Governance and Traditional Affairs, Nomusa Dube-Ncube, MEC for Health Sibongiseni Dhlomo and Patrick Mdletshe from the KZN Aids Council. Quilts made by those infected and affected with HIV, were on display and will form part of the South African journey of storytelling at the conference.

Steps to stabilise bus operations yields positive results

CHARMEL PAYET

THE Municipal bus service, run by private operator Tansnat, is stable following interventions that were agreed upon by both the City and the operator.

Steps that were undertaken in January included establishing an intervention team to oversee the finances of the bus service as well as co-manage Tansnat's new ring-fenced bank account.

The agreement signed between the two parties in January was to ensure there would be no further disruptions to the bus service. The agreement was made an Order of Court which saw the court application the City had initiated to liquidate Tansnat being adjourned pending a determination of whom between the City and Tansnat is indebted to the other, and by how much.

The agreement further provides for the appointment of a reputable law firm to adjudicate the issue of monetary claims that the City and Tansnat have registered against each other.

An independent mediator will soon be appointed to determine once and for all, how much each party owes to the other and how these debts are to be settled.

The interventions implemented followed a number of disruptions to the bus service following diesel shortages and the late payment of staff salaries.

Progress made on stabilising the bus service was presented by City Manager Sibusiso Sithole at the Full Council meeting on 31 March 2016.

He presented a progress report on the matter which stated that the Executive Committee in January approved financial management support to Tansnat in order to prevent a total collapse of the bus service which would have had dire consequences for the City. A number of commuters rely on the bus service every month, which carries over two million passengers.

Sithole said the intervention team to oversee the financial management of Tansnat is now in place, led by KPMG with effect from 4 February 2016.

"The opening of the new ring-fenced bank account was finalised on 22 February 2016," he said.

Child-care Facility By-law to improve standards at crèches

CHARMEL PAYET

CHILDREN left at crèches across the City deserve to be taken care of in a safe and hygienic environment. The Child-Care Facilities By-law, which comes into operation on 22 April 2016, seeks to ensure this.

While existing facilities may be given an extension of up to a year to become compliant with the regulations and meet the minimum requirements, there are penalties for those centres that continue to contravene the By-law.

Those that fail to adhere to the By-law may be liable to a fine not exceeding R2 000 or imprisonment not exceeding two years or both the fine and imprisonment. In the case of continuing offence, an additional fine not exceeding R200 per day or imprisonment not exceeding 10 days will be imposed for each day the offence continues.

A compliance certificate to operate will only be issued if the official is satisfied that the premises and services available comply with the Facilities cannot operate unless a health compliance certificate has been issued where the facility cares for six or less children. Facilities that have more than seven children have to be registered in terms of the Children's Act.

Application for a health compliance certificate must be made to the Municipality in writing by completing and submitting an application form.

The By-law also imposes record keeping and other administrative requirements on crèche operators and allows for the withdrawal of the compliance certificate if crèches are found in contravention.

Roosfontein nature reserve will boost City's economy

SANE SHANDU

THE status of eThekweni in the nature conservation stakes has been bolstered with the announcement of Roosfontein Nature Reserve as a national protected area within the Municipality's boundaries.

The reserve, which was officially launched this month, is the third of those administered by the Municipality to receive such status after Palmiet Nature Reserve and part of Paradise Valley. There are six other nature reserves under the eThekweni Metro that are administered by KwaZulu-Natal Wildlife.

The Roosfontein Reserve is one of the most delicate reserves which has more indigenous species in the City. EThekweni Mayor, James Nxumalo, said nature reserves play an important role in the City's economic development. "Conservation of natural areas support various socio-economic activities and thus contribute towards development at local, regional and national levels. These socio-economic activities are mainly tourism-related business, biodiversity, horticultural and ecosystem services, which would cost a lot of money if replaced with hard engineering solutions," said Nxumalo.

Nature reserves and forests are the main attraction for the growing tourism industry.

JESSIE SINGH

IN a concerted effort to beef up security, diligently fight crime and make the City safer, eThekweni Municipality has initiated a programme that recruits and trains new members at its Metro Police office in Pinetown. Security Management Unit Head Dumisani Bhengu said the programme, which started in December 2015 was achieving the desired results.

"We want to curb crime in the City Centre and criminals are being arrested on a daily basis," said Bhengu.

The strategic approach of the IDP is underpinned by the City's Long Term Development plan and is also informed by global, national and provincial policies such as the Sustainable Development Goals, National Development Plan and Provincial Growth and Development strategy.

The IDP consists of eight plans that will help the City achieve its vision of becoming Africa's most caring and liveable City. These are all inter-related and include developing a prosperous, diverse

City probes illegal sale of RDP homes

PRINCESS NKABANE

ETHEKWINI Municipality has launched a high level investigation into allegations that Municipal officials are involved in the illegal sale of low-cost houses in the Cornubia Housing Development.

The damning allegations were brought to the City's attention by concerned residents who claim that they were approached by City employees offering to sell them homes at the development.

EThekwini Head of City Integrity and Investigations Mbuso Ngcobo said an investigation into the allegations was underway.

"We have received reports about scam artists who are taking advantage of people desperate to improve their living conditions. The City has also noted reports that Municipal officials are involved in these fraudulent activities.

The City takes these allegations very seriously and will investigate all reported cases," he said.

The Cornubia Integrated Human Settlement is a presidential priority project and every effort is being made to deliver housing opportunities in an environment which will facilitate residents' access to government services, recreational facilities and economic opportunity.

The project is still in its early stages and as it is rolled out, more facilities will be established within the project area. The project is expected to be home to more than 20 000 families once completed.

The first residents moved in at the end of 2013 and the project is in full swing, with 2000 units in Phase 1B currently under construction.

All of the units in the current phase are fully subsidised, meaning that a qualifying beneficiaries such as those with a combined monthly income of less than R3500 are not required to pay for the units. Council has approved allocation guidelines for phases 1A and 1B which is as follows:

- People who were living in informal settlements and had to be urgently relocated for various reason including unsafe location or in the way of service delivery (eg: roads and school construction);
- People living in smaller informal settlements which could be eradicated

Vibrant agricultural ward incorporated into eThekwini Municipality

NONDUMISO MATHOMANE

THE incorporation of a new ward into the eThekwini Municipal boundary will have great benefits for the City.

That is the view of Siphon Cele, Deputy City Manager for Governance and International Relations, who said the incorporation of a portion of Vulamehlo Municipality into the City will have a positive spinoff.

"The area has its own advantages, so it's definitely bringing value to the Municipality," said Cele.

He said the area has vibrant rural development projects and viable agriculture.

"The incorporation will also see our Municipality gaining an increased land size," he added.

Explaining how the incorporation came about, Cele said the area was absorbed by eThekwini after the recent disestablishment of Vulamehlo Municipality's ten wards. The wards were split and eThekwini Municipality inherited three and a half wards, while the remaining six and half wards were given to Umdoni Municipality.

On why the three and half wards translated into one ward when they were incorporated into the City, Cele said because Durban is a Metro, the Independent Electoral Commission and the Demarcation Board stipulates that each ward in the Municipality should have between 14 000 to 18 000 people.

"When put together the three and half wards in Vulamehlo Municipality had this number of people which equates to one ward in the eThekwini Metro," he said. To ensure that there is smooth transition between the disestablishment and incorporation into eThekwini, Cele said the two municipalities had started engaging. He said City officials were working on ensuring that the ward is on par with other wards in eThekwini.

"The Vulamehlo ward is rural and will require attention from us in terms of development. It must also adhere to eThekwini standards when it comes to service delivery," he said. nondumiso.mbuyazi@durban.gov.za

Spectacular AIDS parade in CBD

The 21st International AIDS Conference was officially launched with a colourful parade through the City's busy Central Business District on Friday, 8 April 2016.

Waving HIV/AIDS banners, government leadership, civic organisations, AIDS activists, academics and eThekweni residents joined hands preaching the message of eliminating the disease by 2030.

The launch marked 100 days to the start of the five-day conference to be held at the Inkosi Albert Luthuli International Convention Centre from 18 to 22 July 2016. The parade, led by KwaZulu-Natal Premier Senzo Mchunu, began at King Dinuzulu Park and proceeded to the Gugu Dlamini Park where speakers from all spheres of government and AIDS organisations delivered crucial awareness messages about the virus.

Mayor James Nxumalo said it was befitting that such a powerful event was held at Gugu Dlamini Park which was named after the brave woman from Richmond Farm near KwaMashu, who was murdered in 1998 after she publicly disclosed her HIV/AIDS status. Dlamini played a pivotal role in giving a face to the epidemic and talking about the disease as a social issue. Former Minister of Health Dr Nkosazana Dlamini-Zuma once hailed Dlamini for her bravery because despite having been rejected and discriminated against, she went out of her way to educate South Africans about HIV/AIDS.

ROMITA HANUMAN and THEMBA KHUMALO were in attendance to capture the day's events.

Creative Industry to close the unemployment and poverty gap

EThekweni Municipality supports the Creative Industry to ensure that the sector is able to increasingly contribute to employment and growth across the City. Specifically, this involves the provision of direct financial and technical support, whether in the form of grants or the establishment of networks and platforms to support the sector, writes NONDUDUZO NGCONGO.

THE South African economy has been hard-hit by a declining economic growth which urgently calls for innovation and strategic thinking to drive the growth of key sectors in the eThekweni economy. The Creative industry has been identified as one of the key engines which has enormous potential in tackling all the persisting economic challenges, merged during the first Economic Development and Growth in eThekweni Seminar for the Creative Industry. The seminar is eThekweni's quarterly economic meeting that zooms in on the City's economy. During the seminar, City officials select one capable sector that can uplift the economy and bring in a brief overview of the global and national context for the industry's role-players to deliberate on in taking the sector forward.

Deputy Mayor Nomvuzo Shabalala said: "We are investing a substantial amount of money in this sector annually to ensure that we provide sufficient support and skills development to all types of creative aspect ranging from film, fashion, music, acting, performing and visual arts. This is to ensure that we develop the industry as an economic sector."

Shabalala said the sector can have a positive impact in easing poverty and unemployment; citing the successes already achieved in the film and fashion sectors where growth of some businesses resulted in job creation.

She added that there are examples of countries that have managed to turn the creative industry into an effective economic growth vehicle. "In the United Kingdom alone 1.71 million jobs were created by the creative industry in 2013 which verifies how the industry is a growing contributor to job creation and poverty alleviation."

Because Durban is blessed with a rich heritage, Shabalala said the City can also achieve the same success. "We can take the information from our rich heritage to the streets in different forms like theatre to monuments and paintings. This can expose the sector and also lead to urban regeneration while boosting tourism."

Sindi Shangase who Heads the City's Fashion

The City has identified the Creative Industry as one of the key vehicles to drive radical economic transformation. The above pictures are examples of some of the work that the Municipality supports through various programmes to develop the industry.

Picture: SUPPLIED

Development Programme said the City is creating platforms to take the creative industry forward. "For the first time Durban Tourism has called on all creative people to create and submit a range of high fashion, desirable and aspirational items that reflect the multi-dimensional nature of Durban as a holiday and cultural destination."

She said the items must be visual ambassadors for Durban, reflecting the City as a tourist destination. These items must all be locally manufactured using local materials, thus contributing to economic sustainability. "The aim of this new initiative is to create self-sustaining economic opportunities through the promotion of small business development. The City will also provide purchasing support and if the opportunity arises the City can also procure the items to be used as a branded corporate gifts in City hosted events," she said. Shangase added that the selected products will also be marketed in the international market to increase export opportunities.

In the interim, the City's Film Office has reserved R1 million to sponsor the production of seven emerging filmmakers residing in Durban. The application callout will be in May. The City's Arts and Culture Department is also finalising the Draft Creative Industry Strategy which is aimed at improving and streamlining the support offered to the sector. The public will also be given a chance to make their input in the development of the strategy that will assist in shaping the sector. Khaya Ngema of KhayalaMaNgema Artist Production said he is grateful for the City's support. As a way forward, a committee has been appointed to deal with all the issues raised by creative industry players.

Finance capital and investment committee hits the ground running

CHARMEL PAYET

THE first meeting of the recently established Finance Capital and Investment Committee, aimed at attracting investment to the City by planning ahead and focusing on big strategic projects, was held on 13 April 2016.

A presentation, taking stock of current strategic initiatives, was given at the meeting with the objective of improving transparency and informing better decision making in the City. There was discussion around the Municipal Services Financial Model and how best to use it in the City. The model allows officials to 'test' scenarios based on decisions taken to see if it will produce the desired outcome. The model, is a high-level strategic planning tool that provides a range of conclusions and what the possible implications are.

Deputy City Manager for the Finance Cluster, Krish Kumar, who chaired the meeting, welcomed the presentation and said integration between departments was key.

"There are great opportunities to revolutionise funding and bring investment into the City," he said.

Fine-tuning the agenda,

A new high-level committee has been formed with the intention of attracting investment to the City with the key focus being on big strategic projects.

which would set the tone for coming meetings, was also prioritised. The agenda includes issues such as revenue management, grant funding, procurement management, the asset and infrastructure management plan, property management, catalytic projects exceeding R10 million, investment and other strategic matters as well as an economic report on the state of the current market.

Kumar said it was important to get the agenda right to fine-tune reports that would come through to the committee.

The committee is derived from legislation and will not interfere with the daily operations of the different units. The committee has a level of oversight reporting to the Executive Committee, Audit Committee and Council as a whole.

Representatives are comprised of high-level management including the City Manager, the Deputy City Managers of Treasury, Economic Development and Planning, Human Resources and Trading Services, the Heads of Communications and Expenditure Units as well as the Deputy Head of Finance, Pension and Major Projects as permanent members. Invited members of the committee include the Heads of Supply Chain Management, Real Estate, Legal and Compliance and the Deputy Head of Economic Development Policy, Strategy, Information and Research. Officials from Internal Audit are also invited to attend the meetings.

Government acts to end violence in KwaMashu CRU

SIMPHIWE DLAMINI

THE fight against the rapid increase of drugs and firearms in communities requires a joint effort from communities and law enforcement authorities. These were some of the key messages highlighted during the Justice, Crime Prevention and Security Cluster (JCPS) Imbizo in KwaMashu on 12 April 2016.

Deputy Chairperson of the JCPS Cluster, Police Minister, Nkosinathi Nhleko, accompanied by Justice and Correctional Services Minister, Michael Masutha, Deputy Minister of Justice and Correctional Services, Thabang Makwetla held a community Imbizo at the KwaMashu C Section sports ground. Also in attendance was eThekweni Mayor James Nxumalo and senior government officials including National Director of Public Prosecutions, Shaun Abrahams, the Secretary of Defence, Dr Sam Gulube and Home Affairs Director General, Mkuseli Apleni.

The aim of the outreach visit held under the theme: "Taking government to the people", was for government to engage directly with members of the community and stakeholders.

It is part of the JCPS Cluster's outreach programme to visit communities across the country to strengthen partnerships.

The delegation began the visit by doing a walk-about at KwaMashu Community Residential Unit where four men were killed over the weekend.

Nhleko said government cannot ignore the socio-economic conditions of the area and that there was a need for government to continue tackling criminal elements.

"We are emphasising the need for a multi-disciplinary and co-ordinated approach that will assist in finding a lasting solution to the problems at KwaMashu Community Residential Unit. Some of the reported areas of tension, for example, is around the allocation of housing units," said Nhleko.

Nhleko added that a continued partnership between the community and law enforcement agencies will ensure success in the fight against crime.

Nxumalo said there is an existing structure that is dealing with housing allocation issues at the KwaMashu Community Residential Unit and that good progress has been made.

"We have new housing units that have been completed that will improve the living conditions of the residents. We will not rest until we find a permanent solution to the problems," he said, appealing for calm.

Violence, said Nxumalo, will hinder development.

URGENT PUBLIC NOTICE

CITY'S NEW DROUGHT INTERVENTION PLAN

eThekweni Municipality is severely affected by the current drought situation. Residents and businesses will experience on-going interrupted water supply until there is sufficient rainfall.

This situation requires all of us to change our daily water usage patterns. It requires all of us to use less water every day.

Midmar Dam supplies water to areas around Pinetown, Cato Ridge, KwaXimba, Umbumbulu, Geogedale, Hammarsdale, Shongweni, Salem, Umlazi and parts of Folweni.

The water level at Midmar Dam has dropped to 46%. The Albert Fall Dam has dropped to 34%. The low levels of water in the dams require all of us to save the little water that we have.

Umgeni Water, which supplies water to eThekweni Municipality, has started to reduce water supply in order to control the demand and usage patterns. This is very important because it will provide us with continued water supply.

eThekweni Municipality would like to work with residents and communities to prevent areas going without water for long periods of time. However, it is necessary to reduce water supply and demand in areas that are supplied from the Midmar Dam System.

This will be achieved by limiting water supply at night 21h00 to 04h00 in the morning to allow the reservoirs to fill up for the next day. In this way we can ensure the water is available to everyone during the day. The Municipality will engage businesses and public facilities to ensure their operational plans are in line with the current water management plan.

We are confident that this intervention will achieve the required water saving. However, if we are not able to achieve this, an option of limiting water supply during the day will be considered.

Other initiatives by the Municipality to encourage the saving of water include pressure reduction, installation of water meter restrictors, extensive communication, fines and penalties for those with high water usage.

The drought is a reality. However, together with you, the residents and businesses in eThekweni, we can successfully reduce the impact of the drought by changing our behaviour every day. It is possible to reduce the amount of water we use. We can all do it.

City effectively enforcing by-law contraventions

SEVERAL by-laws have recently been implemented by eThekweni Municipality and are aimed at creating a clean and safe world-class City. Education is a very important part of by-law enforcement and the process of community engagement is on-going and we aim to incrementally change public behaviour as awareness is raised. The Nuisance and Behaviour in Public Places By-law became operational in March and provides measures to regulate and control conduct or behaviour which causes or is likely to cause discomfort or inconvenience to the public and to prevent it from occurring. Some examples of prohibited behaviour include littering and vandalism of Municipal property. Another by-law aimed at tackling social ills in Durban is the Problem Buildings By-law which aims to provide for the identification, control and rehabilitation of derelict buildings in the City. The By-law outlines steps to identify and label a building as a problem building. This includes buildings that are derelict in appearance or showing signs of becoming unhealthy, unsanitary or unsightly. Enforcement of this By-law also commenced in March. On 12 April 2016, the Beaches By-law became operational. This By-law aims to provide measures to create an effective system for the managing and controlling of public access to beaches and beach areas and to regulate conduct on beaches clearly outlining what behaviour will not be tolerated.

James Nxumalo

Lastly, the Child Care Facilities By-law will come into effect from 22 April 2016 and aims to regulate the operation of child care facilities by requiring operators to apply for a health compliance certificate and ensure that the premises on which child care facilities are operated are suitable for the health and wellbeing of children. The By-law also seeks to impose minimum safety standards and make provision for the medical care of children while attending child care facilities within eThekweni. The Municipality may in its discretion, withdraw a health compliance certificate if the health compliance holder is convicted of a breach of any of the provisions of the by-law or where a change in legislation necessitates a withdrawal. The key issues that are being tackled through multi-disciplinary by-law enforcement include closing down derelict buildings, cleaning up the City and addressing social ills. I am calling on all residents to actively support the interventions the City has implemented by taking part in education campaigns and staying on the right side of the law.

Illegal panel beating and spray painting business

MY FAMILY and I reside in Acutt Avenue Rosehill, and have been living there for 19 years. In October 2014 a Spraypainting and Panelbeating business started operations at No.32 Acutt Avenue, Rosehill, which is right next door to my home and the roller shutter door to the workshop is 15 metres from my front door. When they work there, the noise is unbearable and when they spray paint the toxic fumes filters right through my home.

Concerned Resident

eThekweni Municipality does not allow residents to operate panel beating and spray painting businesses in residential areas. The relevant Unit will investigate the matter and take the necessary action if they identify any illegal land use. In case of illegal land usage, a City official will issue a contravention notice and upon expiry, a prosecution will be instituted. The owner of the business will also be liable to pay the extra rates costs. The City continues to do its best to ensure that by-laws are adhered to at all times.

Water wastage

OVER three weeks has lapsed and the water running down the drain which is situated on the first white line driving north opposite No.52 Essenwood Road, has not been attended to. If water was not such a vital commodity one could just laugh it off.

Concerned Resident

THANK you for bringing the matter to our attention. A water technician has been sent to investigate the source of the leak. The Municipality urges residents to continue reporting illegal water connections and water leaks to the number 080 13 13 013. Residents can also use the number 083 707 3013 to SMS when reporting water leaks or email Eservices@durban.gov.za

Illegal dumping and blocked drainage

WE OWN the property in Bill Wood Road. We are experiencing a high snakes and rodent infestation accompanied by regular dumping of dirt and various other garbage in this area. We have been trying to get Municipal departments to clear up the verges and blocked drainages at Bill wood Road for some months now.

Concerned Resident

THE area of concern is a newly established industrial area with no services such as water and electricity and some of the roads are still not formalised (sandy roads). The overgrown grass is from private properties, the relevant Unit has been notified to assist with necessary processes. However, the onus lies with the land owner to protect his/her private property or surrender it to Council should they find it difficult to maintain and/or protect. The relevant Unit will begin removing the illegally dumped material and erect no dumping signage boards. The water leak, stormwater drainage and sewer issues are being attended to.

Sharks play in townships

SIMPHIWE DLAMINI

IN LINE with the City's strategy to promote township tourism and foster social cohesion through sports, Cell C Sharks will be embarking on township tours during the months of April and May, which will see the team play three Currie Cup round one matches in Clermont, uMlazi and KwaMashu.

For many residents in these communities, the matches will provide them with their first opportunity to watch a live rugby match being played at their doorstep.

Last year, eThekweni Municipality and Cell C Sharks signed a three year partnership which has paved the way for this tour.

Cell Sharks painted Clermont Township black and white during their tour in the area on 5 March 2016.

The team was welcomed with cheers by excited members of the community who said this will provide them with an opportunity to watch a live rugby match in their township. The first township match was on 8 April 2016, at Sugar Ray Xulu Stadium against Boland Cavaliers. Boland Cavaliers won 37-25. On 20 April 2016, Cell C

Sharks will take on Gauteng Lions at Princess Magogo Stadium and this will be followed by a clash against Namibia at King Zwelithini Stadium on 23 April 2016. Mayor Cllr James Nxumalo described the township rugby games as history making. "I am delighted to be part of it. It is the first time in the long and illustrious history of the Sharks Rugby team that this is being done and we hope that this will not be the last. We aim to expose the growing sport of rugby to more communities as well as utilise the opportunity to get ardent fans to attend the township games and activate township tourism," he said.

Cell C Sharks players pace themselves during a training session at Sugar Ray Xulu Stadium in Clermont. The team will play three Currie Cup matches in Durban townships.

Picture: HOWARD CLELAND

Rugby enthusiast Anele Nongcozo said he never dreamt that one day he would watch a live Cell C Sharks match in his township.

"This is one opportunity we've been longing for. I can't wait for Friday, I'm even more excited for the young ones who are madly in love with the sport and I hope that this match will be a catalyst to revive our local rugby team that has since faded," said Nongcozo.

The Western Cape born Cell C Sharks Right Wing Neil Maritz, said he fell in love with the township and one of the establishment's he would like to visit again was Comfort Zone Restaurant.

"This was a totally new experience for me. The people here are warm and friendly. Their warmth has elevated our confidence as a team, and we urge the people to come out in numbers to support us," said Maritz.

Entry to all matches is free.

THEY lost their mother when they were only a month old and they are currently living with their grandmother in an RDP house in Waterloo.

Their upbringing may be difficult, but the future looks bright for twin sisters, Thubelihle and Siphumele Shamase who are part of the Under 15 girls' soccer team that will represent the Municipality and Africa in the One Nations Cup tournament in Germany next month.

The One Nations Cup is a football festival that takes place every two years and this year's tournament is scheduled to take place on 30 May to 04 June 2016. The tournament forms part of the Sister Cities Programme.

The twins' grandmother, Hloniphile Mbatha was surprised to hear that the 14-year-old girls were selected to be part of the team as she wasn't aware of their talent.

"This came as a shock to me. I usually hear the neighbours say my grandchildren play football very well. I have never seen them play, but when I received a phone call from the Municipality informing me that they have been selected to be part of the team going to Germany, I asked myself could this be the beginning of their football career.

I asked myself if this could be the Lord Almighty's plan to get us out of poverty," said Mbatha.

The first One Nations Cup was played in 2006 with teams from Brazil, South Africa, China, Japan, New Zealand and different European countries. It was the 2011 One Nations Cup that saw the first involvement of U15 girls.

The City's Acting Deputy Head of Sports Development and Recreation Department, Sandra Khathi, said it is all system go for the team as they will depart for Germany on 28 May.

THE popular Sky Grand Prix of Aerobatics returns to the skies of Durban in May, following its huge success and the spectacular action witnessed at the inaugural event on the Durban beachfront last year.

This spectacle is an exciting event the people of Durban can look forward to, especially those that enjoy the thrilling sounds and aerobatics of flying machines as world-renowned aerobatic pilots execute their tricks with speed and fine precision.

This festival will see ten experienced aerobatic pilots competing against each other over the skies of Royal Durban Golf Course. The competition requires these "Gladiators of the Sky" to perform breath-taking tricks using 25-meter pylons as markers.

These pylons will be placed strategically on the Royal Durban Golf Course, and the pilot's technical tricks will be analysed by a panel of Sports Acrobatic Club judges and will ultimately result in a Champion being crowned.

The CEO of Sky Grand Prix, Roger Deare, said that this event is unique and unlike other aviation events, it's not happening at an airport but in the skies above Greyville Race Course and the Royal Durban Golf Course.
